Welcome to the
Mount Sinai-Samaritan’s Purse
Emergency Extension Hospital

As you know, New York City is in the middle of a public health emergency and we are doing all we can to protect the health and welfare of our patients. Mount Sinai Health System has partnered with an organization called Samaritan’s Purse to build and run a temporary hospital in Central Park near The Mount Sinai Hospital. You are being transferred to this new hospital so that we can provide you with the best care possible. This temporary hospital may look different from where you are now, but rest assured that you will receive the same high quality medical care while there.

What is Samaritan’s Purse?
Samaritan’s Purse is an international relief organization that provides emergency medical care in areas where the medical organizations are overwhelmed, such as New York City during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Why am I being transferred to Mount Sinai-Samaritan’s Purse Emergency Extension Hospital?
In order to provide you the best medical care, we have made the decision to transfer your care to the Mount Sinai-Samaritan’s Purse Emergency Extension Hospital. This decision was made by your care team with your safety and well-being in mind.

Will I receive the same level of care?
Yes, you will be receiving the same level of high quality medical care. The new hospital serves as an extension of the Mount Sinai Health System during this crisis and we aim to provide you with the best care so you can recover as quickly as possible.

Will I be discharged from there?
Yes. Once your medical condition improves, we can arrange for your discharge directly from this hospital. Our discharge planning team can help take care of all your discharge needs, including prescriptions.

Can I have visitors?
As of March 28th we are prohibiting visitors across the Mount Sinai Health System. Please refer to: https://www.mountsinai.org/about/covid19/patient-updates for the latest updates.

If I have any other questions, who should I speak to?
There will be doctors, nurses, social workers and other support staff who can assist you at this time. Also, you may reach out to 332-201-4636 if you have any specific questions about your care.
