

Will the COVID-19 Vaccines Affect My Fertility?

No.

The COVID-19 vaccines do not affect fertility—your ability to become pregnant or to make someone else pregnant—in any way. COVID-19 is especially dangerous for pregnant people, who are at much greater risk of severe illness, including hospitalization and death. Anyone who is pregnant, or considering becoming pregnant in the future, should get vaccinated.

Learn more

Watch a video

Make a vaccine appointment

