PROGRAM DESCRIPTION
This full-day symposium will provide the clinician with an update on diagnostic processes, cutting-edge technologies, and innovative management strategies in five major areas of adult neurology practice: headache, movement disorders, epilepsy, stroke, and multiple sclerosis. Lectures will be complemented by case presentations and discussion. Patient simulators (actors) will interact with faculty to provide an enhanced learning experience.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES
The Educational Objectives for this CME activity are supported by a comprehensive assessment of needs and identification of practice gaps.

- Create appropriate management strategies for patients with various types of epilepsy, including women of child-bearing age.
- Generate a differential diagnosis for the patient with a movement disorder given the clinical presentation and history, and identify appropriate management options.
- Diagnose migraine and sub-types, identify potential etiologies, and create an effective management strategy.
- Utilize the updated criteria for diagnosing and categorizing multiple sclerosis and create an effective comprehensive and holistic management plan.
- Identify appropriate treatment approaches, including prophylactic, for acute ischemic stroke and transient ischemic attack (TIA), and recognize cases that are appropriate for referral to comprehensive stroke centers offering acute endovascular interventions.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?
This symposium is designed for the practicing neurologist; other specialists in related fields (rehabilitation medicine, internal medicine, psychiatry); residents and fellows; and other healthcare professionals involved in the care of patients with neurologic disorders (nurses, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, physical/occupational therapists).

Accreditation
The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation
The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai designates this live activity for a maximum of 6.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Verification of Attendance
Verification of attendance will be provided to all professionals.

Special Needs
The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is in full compliance with provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and is accessible for individuals with special needs. If you would like to attend this conference and require any special needs or accommodations please contact the Page and William Black Post-Graduate School of Medicine at 212-731-7950.

Faculty Disclosure
It is the policy of Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai to ensure objectivity, balance, independence, transparency, and scientific rigor in all CME-sponsored educational activities. All faculty participating in the planning or implementation of a sponsored activity are expected to disclose to the audience any relevant financial relationships and to assist in resolving any conflict of interest that may arise from the relationship. Presenters must also make a meaningful disclosure to the audience of their discussions of unlabeled or unapproved drugs or devices. This information will be available as part of the course materials.
